Warranty

This document sets out the warranty Harbor Goods gives on the products it sells. The warranty covers defects in materials and workmanship that appear under normal use. It is in addition to the customer's rights under the Returns Policy and does not replace them.

Coverage periods

Coverage starts on the delivery date shown in tracking and depends on the product class. Tents and shelters are covered for 2 years from the date of delivery. Sleeping bags and sleeping pads are covered for 2 years from the date of delivery. Harbor Line backpacks, our own brand, are covered for 5 years from the date of delivery. Backpacks from other brands are covered for 1 year. Footwear is covered for 1 year from the date of delivery. Electronics, such as headlamps, GPS units and satellite messengers, are covered for 1 year from the date of delivery. Cooking stoves are covered for 1 year, but stove fuel and other consumables are not covered.

The warranty belongs to the original buyer and cannot be transferred. A replacement product is covered for the rest of the original coverage period or for 90 days, whichever is longer.

Who gives the warranty

Harbor Goods handles every warranty claim directly, even when the product was made by a supplier. Customers never need to contact the maker. Harbor Goods then recovers the cost from the supplier under the supplier terms.

Exclusions

The warranty does not cover normal wear and tear, such as faded colors, worn soles, or abrasion of fabrics after heavy use. It does not cover damage caused by misuse, accidents, fire, or improper storage, such as packing a tent away wet for long periods. UV damage to tent fabrics is excluded after the first 12 months. Products used for commercial rental or for group instruction are covered for 90 days only. Products bought from sellers other than Harbor Goods are not covered. Any modification, such as cutting, re-sealing seams with products we did not approve, or replacing parts with parts we did not supply, ends the warranty for that product.

Zippers, buckles and other small hardware are covered for the full period of the product, and we usually fix them by repair rather than replacement.

Repair, replacement or refund

When a claim is approved, Harbor Goods first tries to repair the product. If the repair would cost more than 60 percent of the price paid, we replace the product with the same item or the closest current model. If neither repair nor replacement is possible, we refund the price paid. We never refund shipping charges from the original order under the warranty.

How to make a claim

Customers must make a claim within 30 days of discovering the defect and before the coverage period ends. Claims are made with warranty claim form WC-1, which is available from the customer account or from support. The claim must include proof of purchase and at least two photos showing the defect.

Harbor Goods decides each claim within 10 business days of receiving the complete claim form. If we need to see the product, we email a prepaid return label, and Harbor Goods pays shipping both ways within the United States. Repaired or replacement items are sent by standard service.

Claim records

Each claim gets a number that starts with WAR, and the decision is sent by email. If a claim is refused, the email gives the reason, and the customer may ask for a second review by a team lead within 14 days of the decision. The second review is final.
